Above Ground Storage Tank Safety

HANFORD – Due to the rising flood water along the Kings River and Cross Creek areas, Kings County Department of Public Health, Division of Environmental Health services would like to remind property owners with above ground storage tanks warrant serious consideration during this flood event. These tanks include, but are not limited to fuel, propane, chlorine, anhydrous ammonia, waste storage drums, large totes, or other petroleum products. Flood waters may dislodge, float, or cause the contents of the tanks to be released causing potential fire, explosion or contamination to the surrounding flood waters. Steps should also be taken to safeguard compressed gas cylinders, pesticide container or bulk fertilizers.
